Bruins break through the "You Gotta Believe" banner at the championship game in Falls Church.

From September to June, the halls echoed with cries of "We're number one!" and "You Gotta Believe!" And season after season, team after team proved that the students were right. The Bruin football team brought the AAA trophy home after previously capturing the title in 1974. During the winter months, the wrestlers remained undefeated and added another star to the Bethel crown with the state wrestling championship. In the spring, the track team continued the sweep and won the outdoor title. The Bruins accomplished the impossible and rewrote the Virginia High School League record books.

Different Ways

When one peeks in a classroom, he can see many different ways of decorating it. Some teachers have all their bulletin boards filled with pictures and ideas related to the subject they teach. Others have little odds and ends hanging from the ceiling. Then some have their desks arranged in different ways. There are many ways that a classroom can be arranged to look very neat and to be more interesting.

Hospitality in Hampton

My name is Hoa Nguyen. I am from Saigon, Vietnam. My family lives in Vietnam now.

I live here with my sister. Her name is Xuan.

I arrived in the United States on July 27, 1975, and landed in Nebraska. I lived in Nebraska for 8 months; then I moved to Hampton, Virginia.

My experience at Bethel have been very exciting and enjoyable. I learned many new things that can help me in the future. My counselors, teachers, and classmates have been very kind toward me and have helped me adjust. If I were asked to judge the best school I have attended, I would select Bethel as number one because of the warm hospitality of everyone in the entire school.

Welcome Change

Changing classes is so much fun. You are able to meet new people and new teachers. If you stay in one class the whole year, you get bored and tired of seeing the same old faces over and over again. You enjoy being with the people, but like anything else, you get tired of it. Changing classes just helps to make school more interesting.

Keeping Them in Line

Being a football manager is a lot of fun. I get to share all the up's and down's with my team. I try my best to give them confidence and courage to win a game. Being a manager is not all fun and games. It's hard work and I have to pay attention or I will get fussed at. I bandage them, give them water during time out, fix the whirlpool for them, do paper work, and try to keep them in line. The football team enjoys having girls for managers. We are very close. We are like a family that loves and depends on each other.

In a pep rally I sit in the dead section. Nobody ever cheers. We all just sit there. A lot of people do not even stand for the Alma Mater. It is not that we do not have any school spirit, but we are just too lazy to yell and clap. Yet I think pep rallies are great.

Enthused Teachers

In order for us to have great pep assemblies, the teachers need to let the students know that they have spirit also. They should let go once in a while. Everyone got a kick out of seeing the teachers out there dancing. It just made things a lot more fun to know that the teachers are as enthused about this school as we are.

No Way to Play Around

I cannot say very much good about school. It's not that school has changed; it's that I have changed. I want to go to college for electronics and that means having to take harder subjects and making good grades. School has always been a lot of work for me, but I always seemed to be able to play around and have a good time. It's different now. There is much more work to do and there is no way to play around with it and make good grades.

I hope I can get accepted at VPI and further my education. I will be glad to get this year over with.

We are about to change classes again, going on to a new nine weeks, a new group of people, and a new teacher. I really am sorry that we are changing because I like my classes the way they are. Moving Mobs

Walking through the halls can be a terrible experience. There is always somebody ahead of you who walks much slower than you. During class changes the halls are filled with mobs of moving people rushing to get to their classes. There is always someone who will turn and walk right into you. Then there are sophomores who insist on running from class to class. In the mornings there are people standing in the middle of the halls talking to each other. There are many people who walk in the wrong direction.

The Big Green Machine

Being a member of the football team is a pleasure and privilege for me. It's a feeling of pride and happiness. Doing the things that must be done, the basics. Giving 110% on every play to make sure we carry on that winning tradition of the Big Green Machine. Because I am doing what's natural for me, it's instinctive by now. The bumps and bruises are a small price to pay. When we win, the feeling of ecstasy fills the air because we have worked so hard for it. That's the best feeling in the world.

Four to Enjoy

I have only four classes this year and only two of them are hard for me. Government and English are my hardest classes. The other two are Mechanical Drawing II and III. In those classes I draw and do model scales of houses. I have more homework with four classes than I had last year with six. Most of my homework is in government and mechanical drawing. I enjoy having only four classes instead of six.

Senioritis

Every senior seems to catch a bug which ruins his senses. They know that they are here for only one last year, so they miss as many days as they can. To make the year go by faster they even skip classes. Some seniors are scared about the future. They don't know if they will go to college or what kind of job they want. These people are really caught by the bug. Senior year is the best year. I am glad that I am a senior.

Desk Doodles

Desks. You can see some really crazy things on them. In English class, there is a nice one. It has a wooden top; it's one of the old ones. Everyone has signed it. In government class, there is one desk that has a girl's name and phone number on it. There are little drawings on some desks. Others have designs that have taken someone a very long time to draw. Everyone signs desks and draws on them. Sometimes you can even find the answers to test questions, if you look hard.

Recorded Feelings

I really enjoyed Personal Writing. I like the idea of keeping a journal everyday because I was able to write my feelings in my journal. I will always try to keep a journal. A journal is a very personal book. You write things that you sometimes want to keep to yourself. When you feel that you do not want to talk with friends, a journal is great.

A Different Feel

I think the differences in the way the classes "feel" to me is neat. Every class has a different "feel" to it. Some classes make me feel sick; I know I have to work hard and I feel stiff. Other classes make me feel loose; I can just relax and learn easily. Even the gym and cafeteria have distinctly different "feels" to them. I bet if I were blindfolded, I could tell what room I was in. Some rooms would be more difficult to distinguish than others, but some I could tell right away.

A Trip to Greece

Most students feel privileged to get out of the state for the summer, so how would they react to a chance to get out of the country? Maria Asime had that chance last summer. Maria, with her mother and sister, flew to Greece to visit relatives.

Besides enjoying the beautiful scenery, Maria said, "I loved being with my relatives because families are so close there." Swimming was a favorite activity because "the water is so beautiful." The families all go out together and "stay out until all hours of the night."

Relax and Enjoy

"The objective of fox-hunting," says Elaine Woolard, "is not to kill, but to listen to the hounds work and to enjoy a relaxing day's ride. The hounds kill the fox if they catch it."

Elaine has been fox-hunting for about a year and a half, and she has worked with horses for four years. As Elaine says, "You have to have perfect control over your horse or else you won't be allowed to hunt. A horse out of control is very dangerous to yourself and others."

I'm Glad School Started

I really couldn't wait until school started because the summer was really boring. It was hard trying to find something to do everyday of the week. I couldn't wait until school got out, then I couldn't wait until it started again. I missed not having homework, tests, six classes, and getting up at 6:30. So I'm really glad school started when it did.

Scott Sails to New York

Scott Borgman participated in something very unusual during the summer. He, along with 15 other people, set sail to join Tall Ships from other countries in New York for the Fourth of July. Ships came from as far away as South America, Germany, and Poland.

Scott sailed on a 38 ft. Gaff Rig Schooner with a group of Boy Scout Explorers. "There was a big fireworks display and all the ships sailed down the middle of the river," stated Scott.

Building a Future

I remember when I was smaller and in grade school, I couldn't wait to get here. And now I've been here awhile and I realize I'm going to leave soon and it scares me just a bit. The times I've had here are etched into my memory like a photograph for all time, and that's how long I'll cherish the faces and names. But the same time a kind of joy spreads through my heart, knowing that I'll leave here prepared to shape and build a bright future.

A Deep Feeling

I haven't been to any of the pep rallies because of one reason or another, and I haven't been to any of the games either. No one can claim that I don't have school spirit because when I ask if we won the game and what was the score, I feel as good to hear that we've won as if I had been there myself. It's a deep down feeling you get to know you're on top and no one's beaten you yet.

Coming back to school was very special for me because I had worked hard to be able to go into the eleventh grade. Last year I was in the ninth grade, and I went to summer school to be able to go into the eleventh grade. During the summer I went to school from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Since I passed all my summer school classes, I am in the eleventh grade. I want to make the best I can of being here.

An Exception to the Rule

When we hear the words "football player" we often visualize someone big, strong, and handsome. We may also tend to believe that his intelligence only goes as far as the lockerroom. However, Jeff Periera is an exception to this stereotype.

A defensive end, Jeff has played this position for about seven years. He plays hard and is motivated by the team's spirit and pride. "Football and school work come together evenly," according to Jeff.

Jeff values friends, family, school, and football.

Cowan Composes

The fall play "The Spiral Staircase" was a big event. Many students were involved in the production, both off and on stage. Drama club member Jennifer Cowan wrote the theme song for the play. A sophomore, Jennifer has taken piano for seven years. The song was entitled "Who Can It Be?"

Jennifer states that the music is much easier to write than the lyrics. A musical career may be the direction in which Jennifer heads.

A Little On Edge

Coming back to school is the one thing everyone dreads. The first day of school you really don't want to go but you go anyway just to see who your teachers are and if you get the right kind of subject. And you really dread it because you're going to be new here at Bethel, and you were looking forward to coming, but you're still kind of chicken. And then you get here and you find everyone here is a little on edge. So you feel better.

Try to Beat the Time

People rush from class to class trying to beat the time. Watching people walking to class you can tell a lot about a person. You see them walking slow, fast, alone, with a crowd, or with a boyfriend or girlfriend. I guess it's all in the way you look at things.

Something Special

There's something special about being part of a class. Even if the subject isn't your favorite, just participating and getting to be with other students tends to make the class fun at times. I've learned that what you put into something and how much you give of yourself is what you'll get out of it. If you give a little of yourself in class — the class isn't so bad.

We Get the Work Done

Spanish is a lot of fun. Most people don't think so because it requires a lot of work, but I have always had fun in my Spanish classes. We have a chance to talk and laugh, but we still get the work done. Just because you have to do a lot of work in a class doesn't mean you can't have fun.

Strange Faces

Walking down the huge hallways you get a feeling of being the only one standing out in the crowd. Strange faces all around you make you feel at times like you aren't supposed to be here. But in a few days you begin to feel like you are being painted into the picture of Bethel High School.

Grow Up, Kid

Being a sophomore is tough because sophomores get blamed for everything. And the juniors and seniors are always telling us "listen to your upperclassmen," and "act like you have some sense." Or else they say "Grow up; you're in high school." But they really never think that they were in the tenth grade once.

Referring to his correspondence, Mr. Gillikin confers with the superintendent's office.

Returning from the cafeteria, Mr. Croft heads for his office.

With an administrative staff of three assistant principals, Mr. Dennis Gillikin continued his responsibilities as principal. Mr. Robert Croft worked as coordinator of all student activities while Mr. Bolen Shupe dealt with the continued maintenance of the school building. Both Mr. Croft and Mr. Shupe handled boys' discipline. Assistant principal for instruction, Mr. Rufus Gant was aided by the guidance department in scheduling. Mr. Gant also observed teachers in the classroom and conducted follow-up conferences with them.

Stopping in the hall, Mr. Shupe talks with the Supervisor of Business.

During Class Night, seniors perform a modern dance.

In three sections — active, athletic, and autonomous — the divisions of the yearbook are representative of the three A's in the AAA state championships. The triangles on the cover design are used to reinforce the concept of three since Bethel won three state titles. One triangle is two-sided, indicating that we still have many additional victories ahead of us in all of our endeavors. The theme of the yearbook is Believing, taken from the rally cry "You Gotta Believe."
